

Chy 2 Navatona

In defiance of Sandinista orders against food surplus, people everywhere in Yapti Tasba provided food to the "bush boys". Here in Wounta, salted fish is hung to dry in sun. August, 1983. Photo by Bernard Nietschmann. [Chap 1]

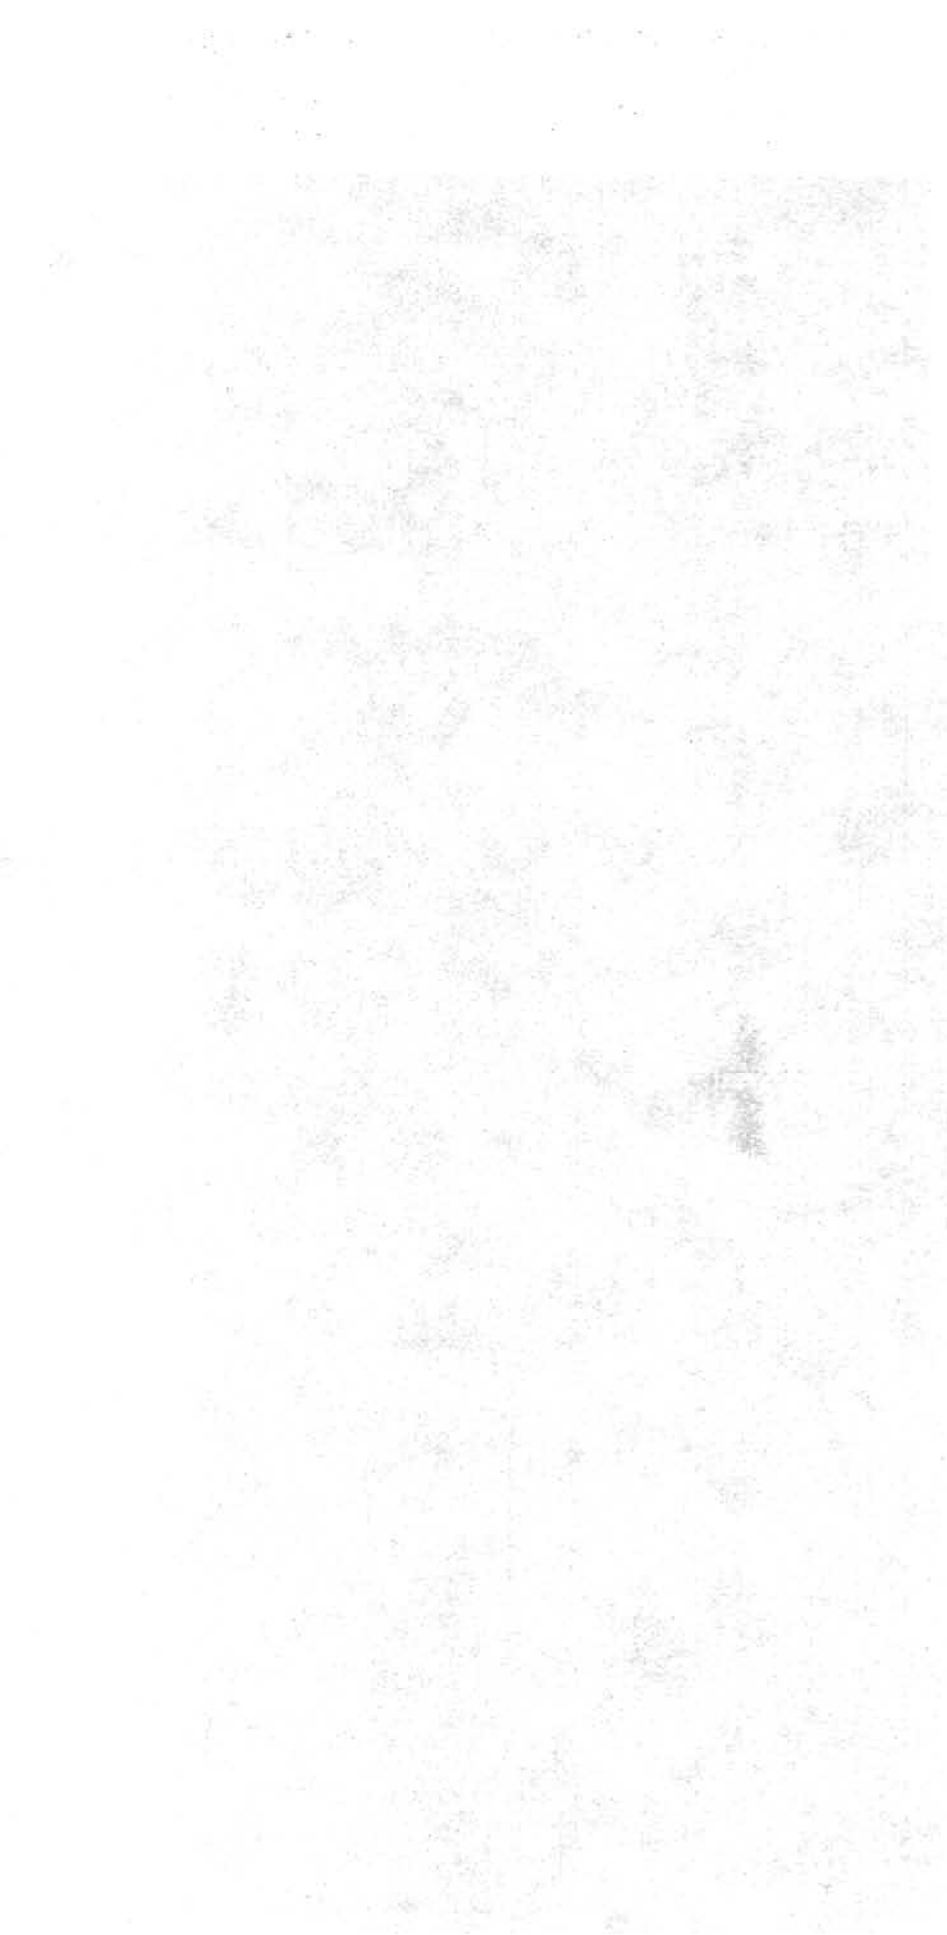

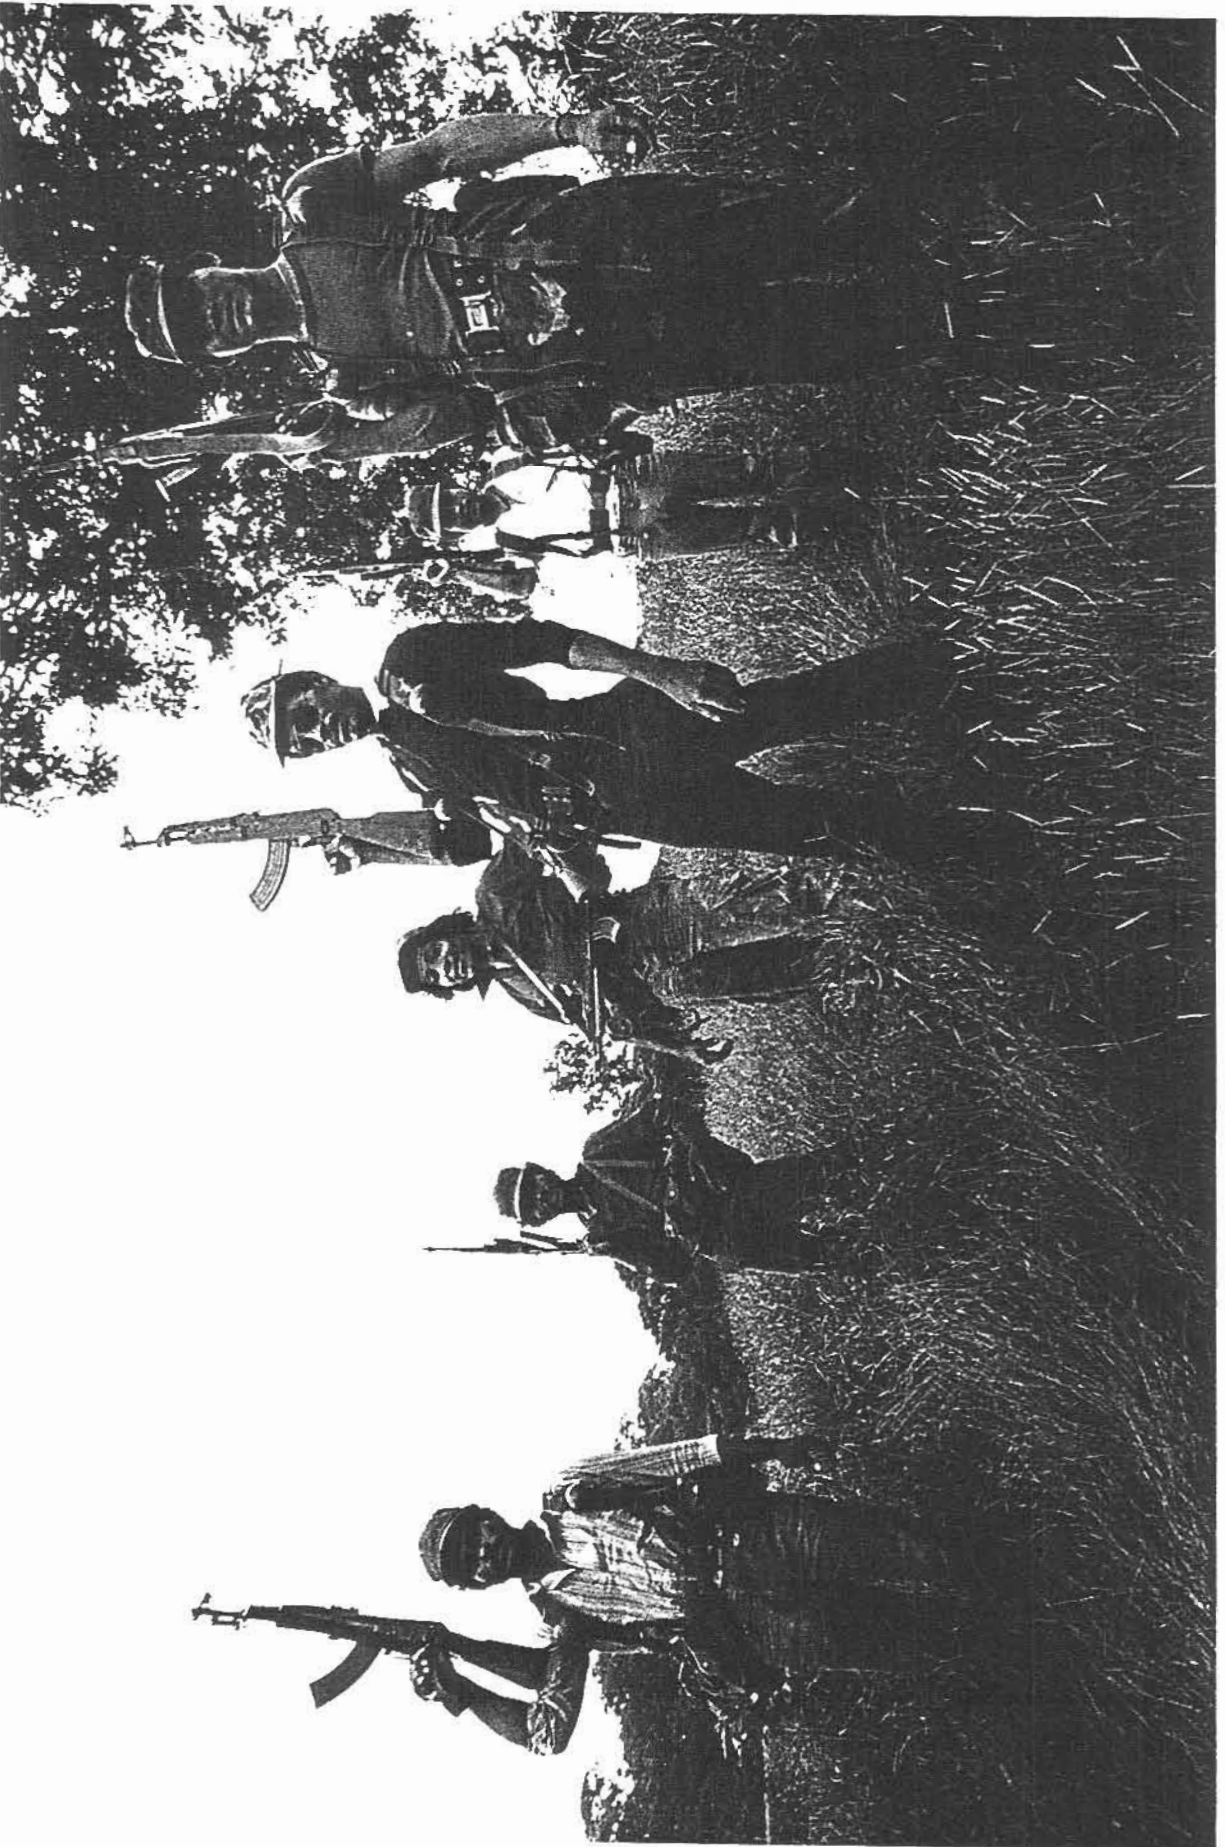

Miskito woman with M-60 machine gun. Misurasata base camp inside Yapti Tasba, 1983. Photo by Bernard Nietschmann. [Chap 2.]

Misurasata unit on patrol. Yapti Tasba, 1983. Photo by Bernard
Nietschmann. [Chap. 2].

Nicaragua. Photo by Bernard Nietschmann

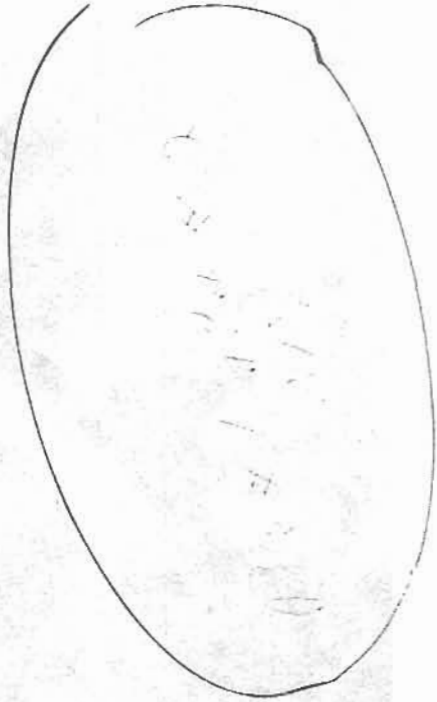

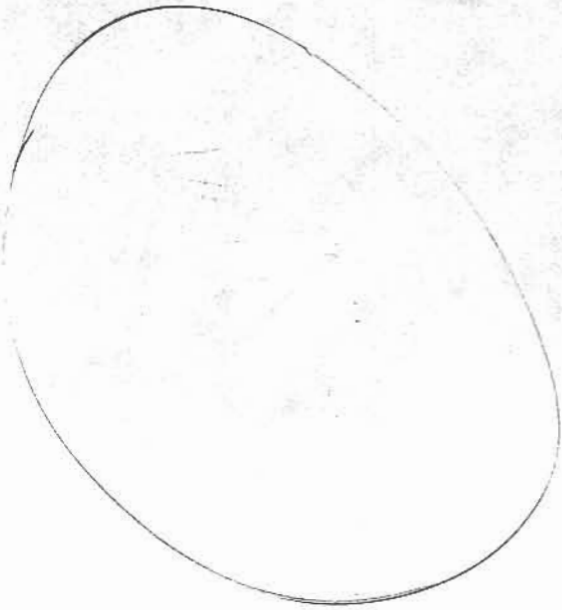

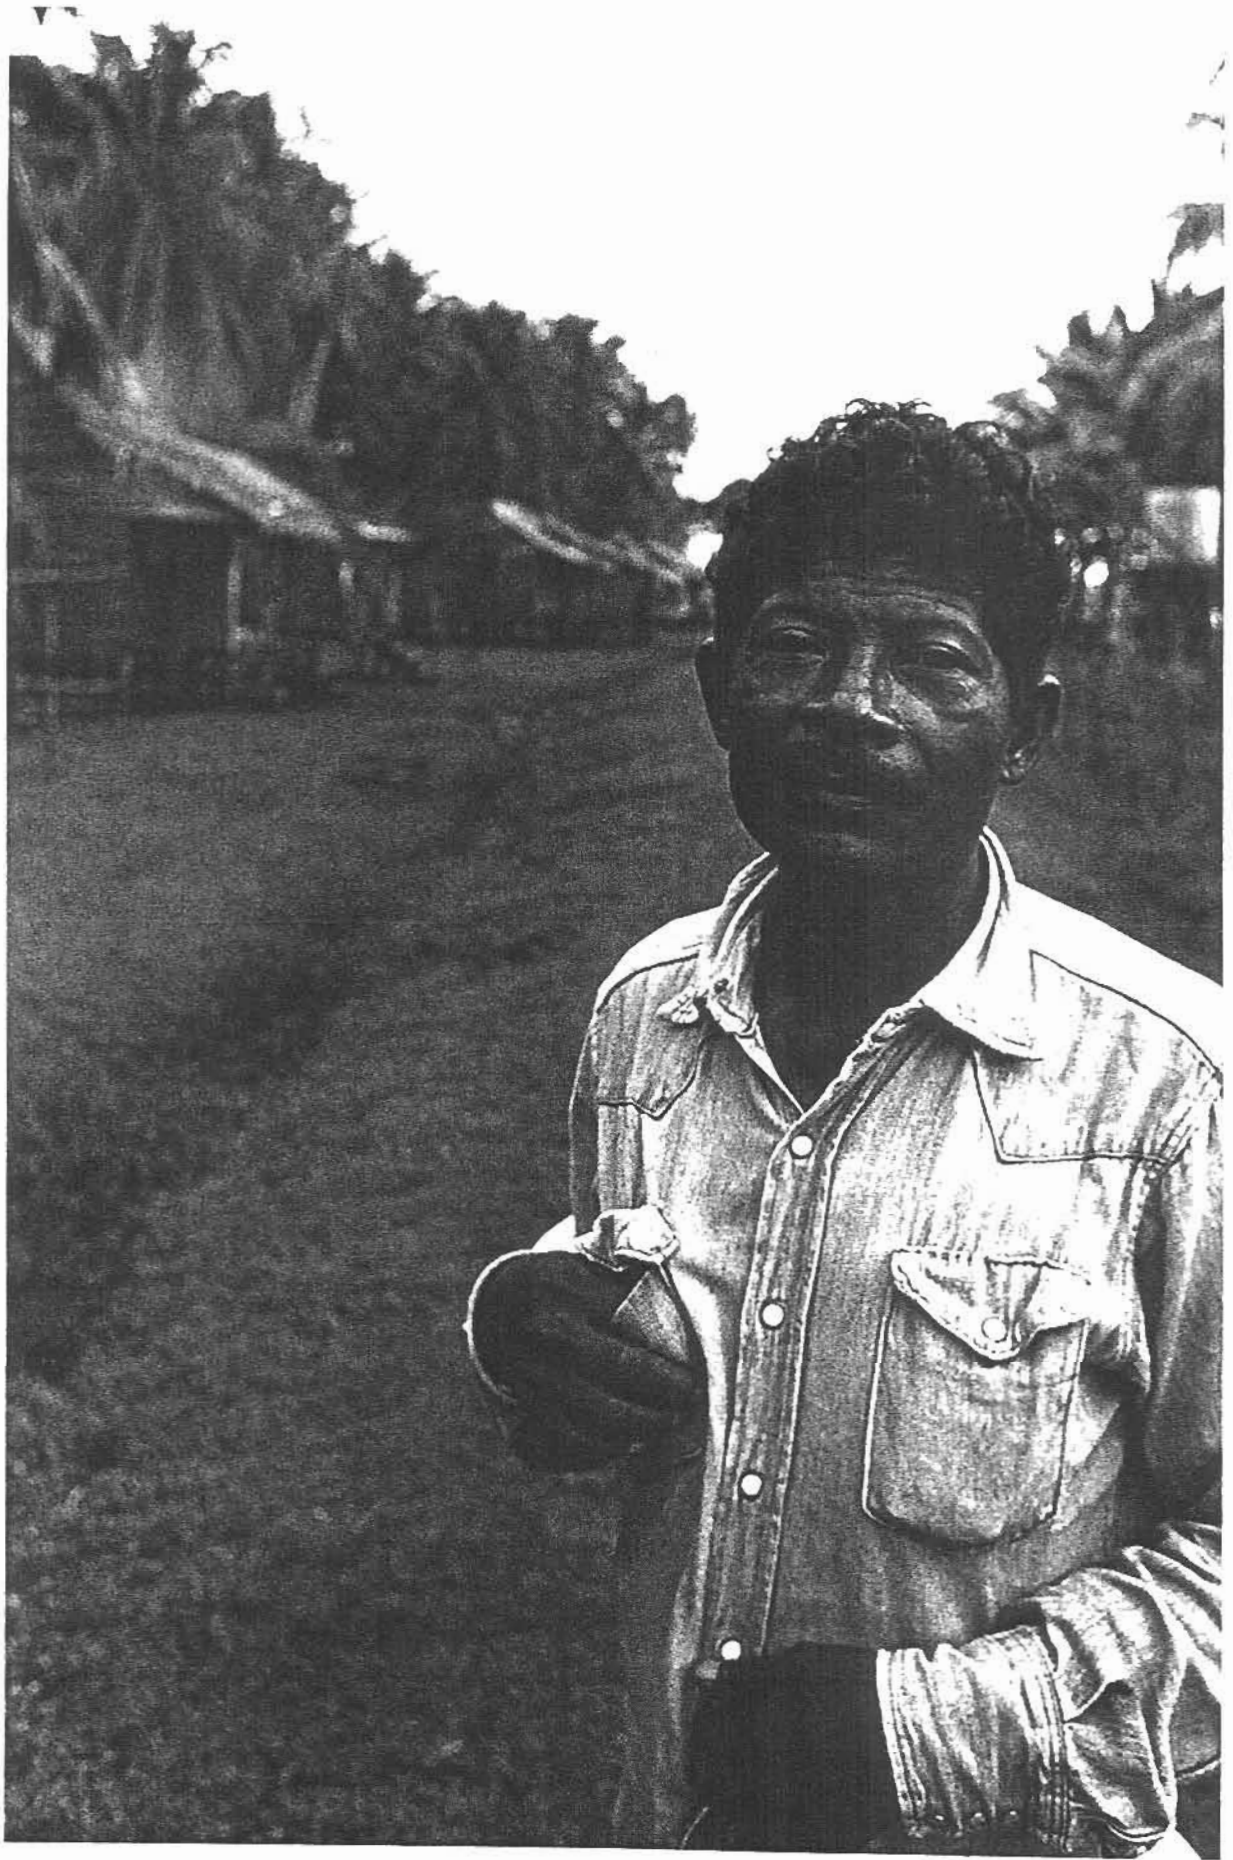

Misurasata unit. Yapti Tasba, 1983. Photo by Bernard
Nietschmann. [Chap. 2].

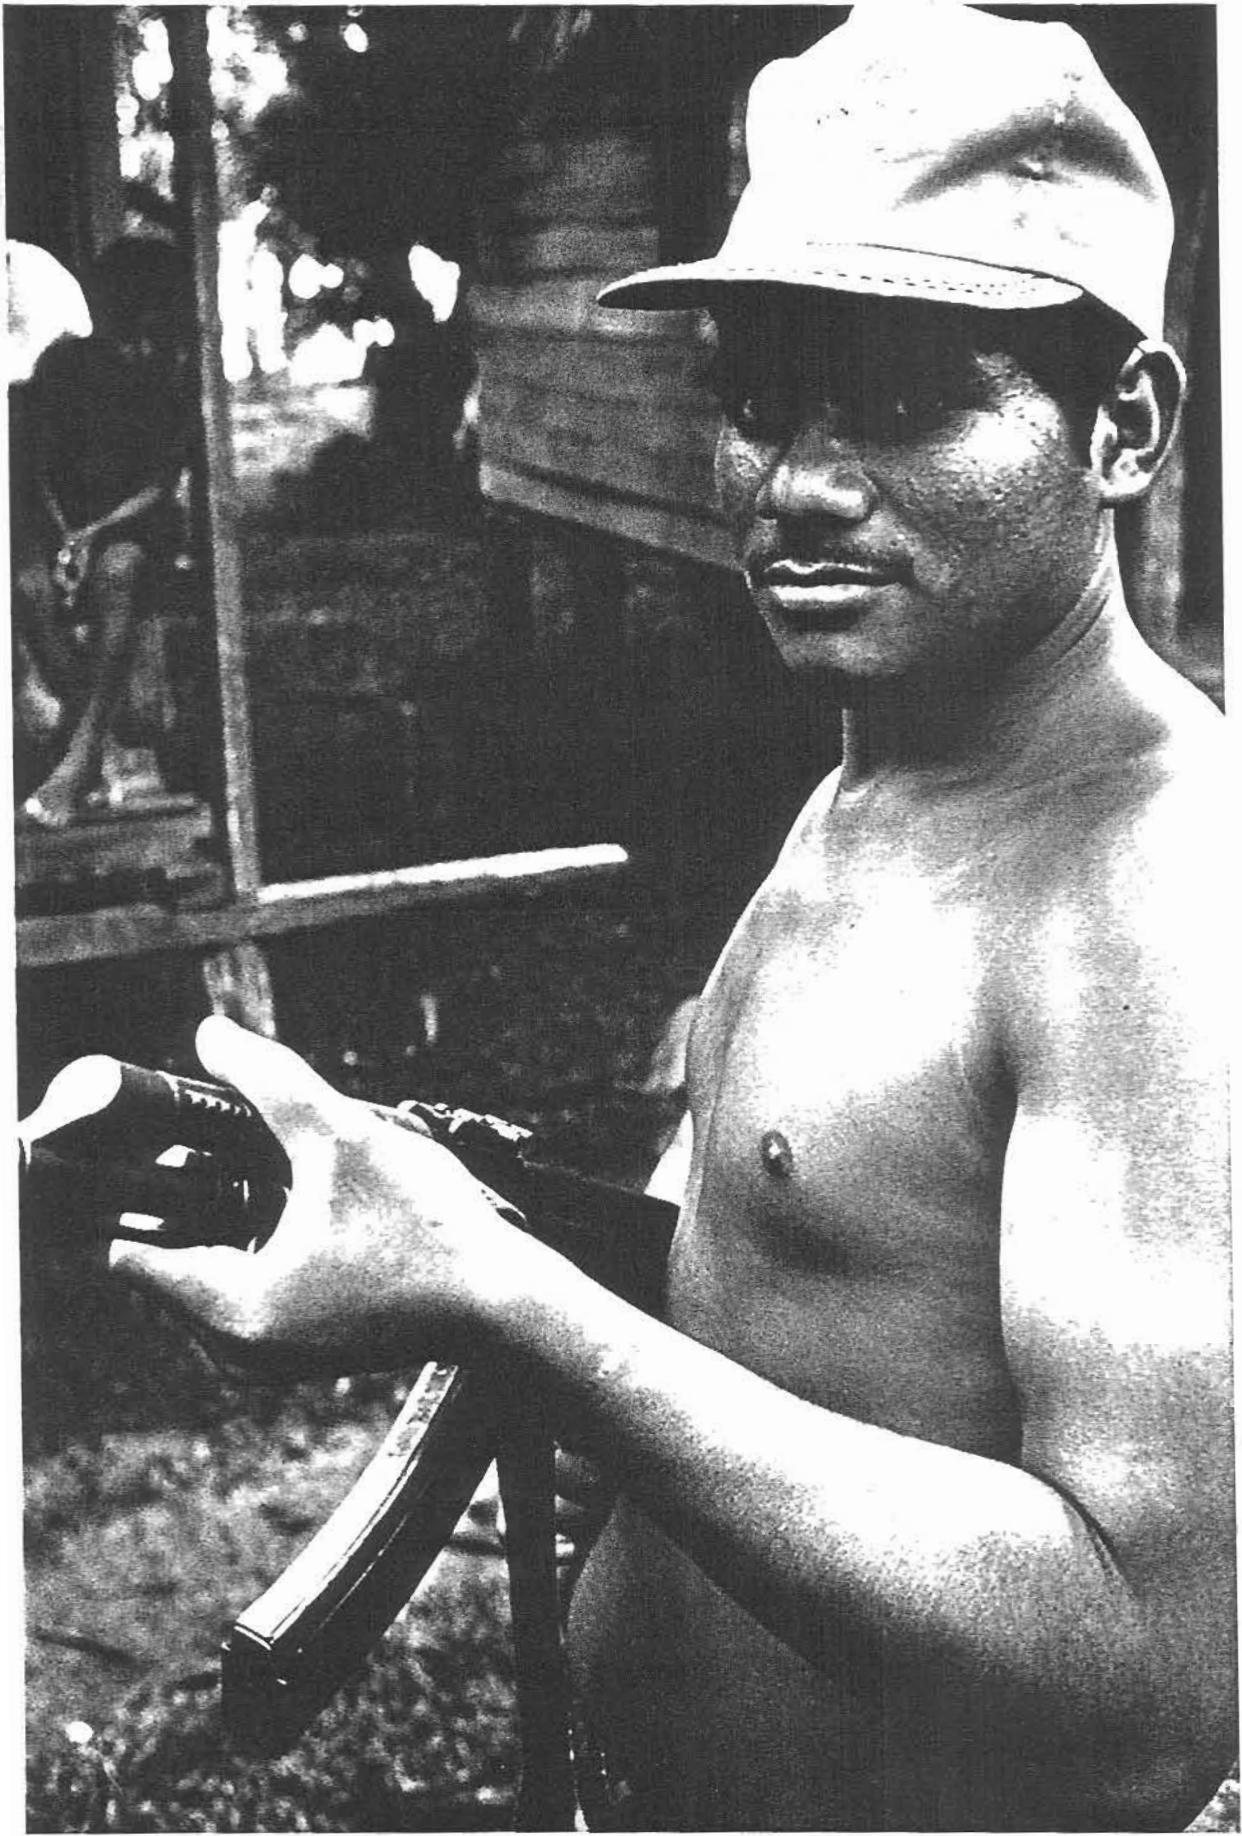

All volunteers, Misurasata fighters had barely adequate weapons and few uniforms. This fighters wears a Sandinista flag taken in combat and carries an AK-47, two M-67 hand grenades and a LAW rocket launcher. 1983. Photo by Bernard Nietschmann [Chap. 2]

1/11/83

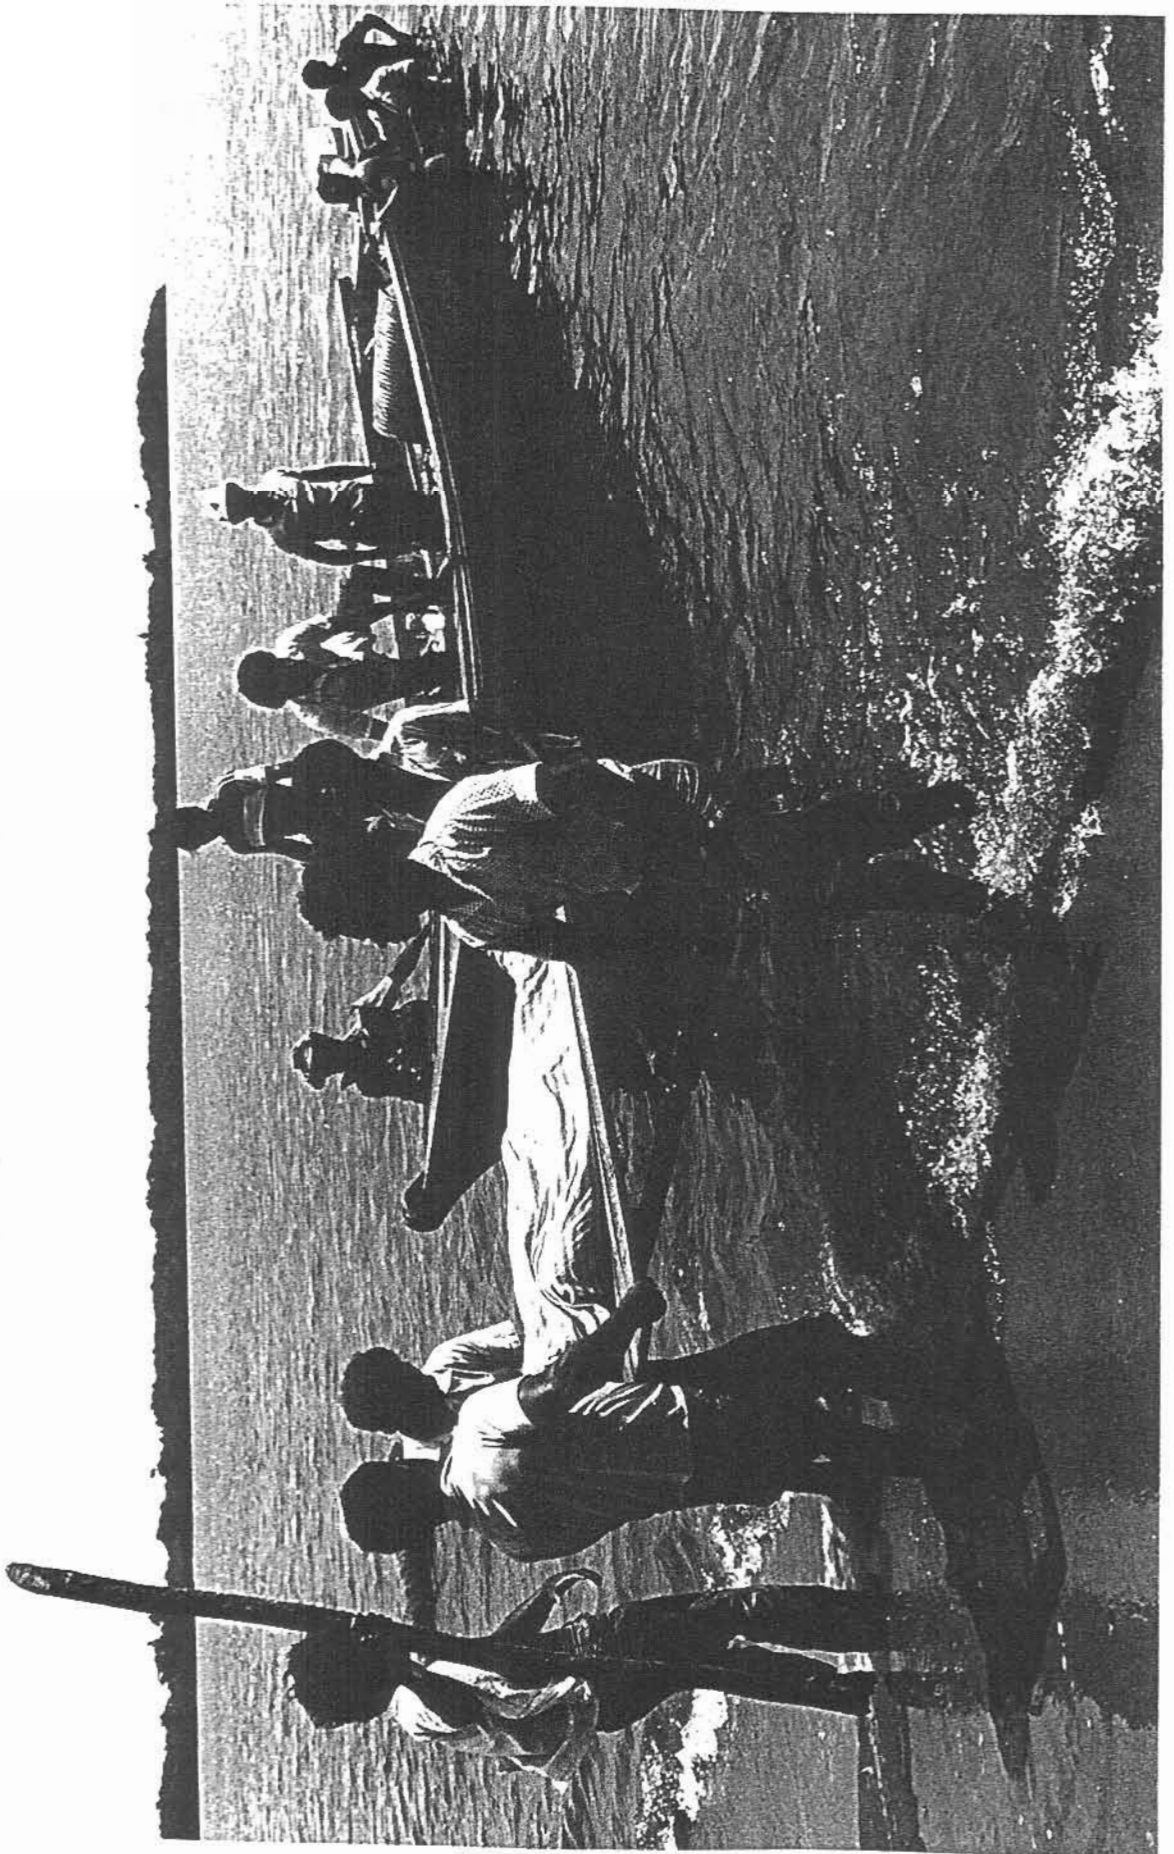

Miguel Washington, on his way home after being released from Sandinista prison where he was tortured and beaten. 1983. Photo by Bernard Nietschmann. [Chap. 2]

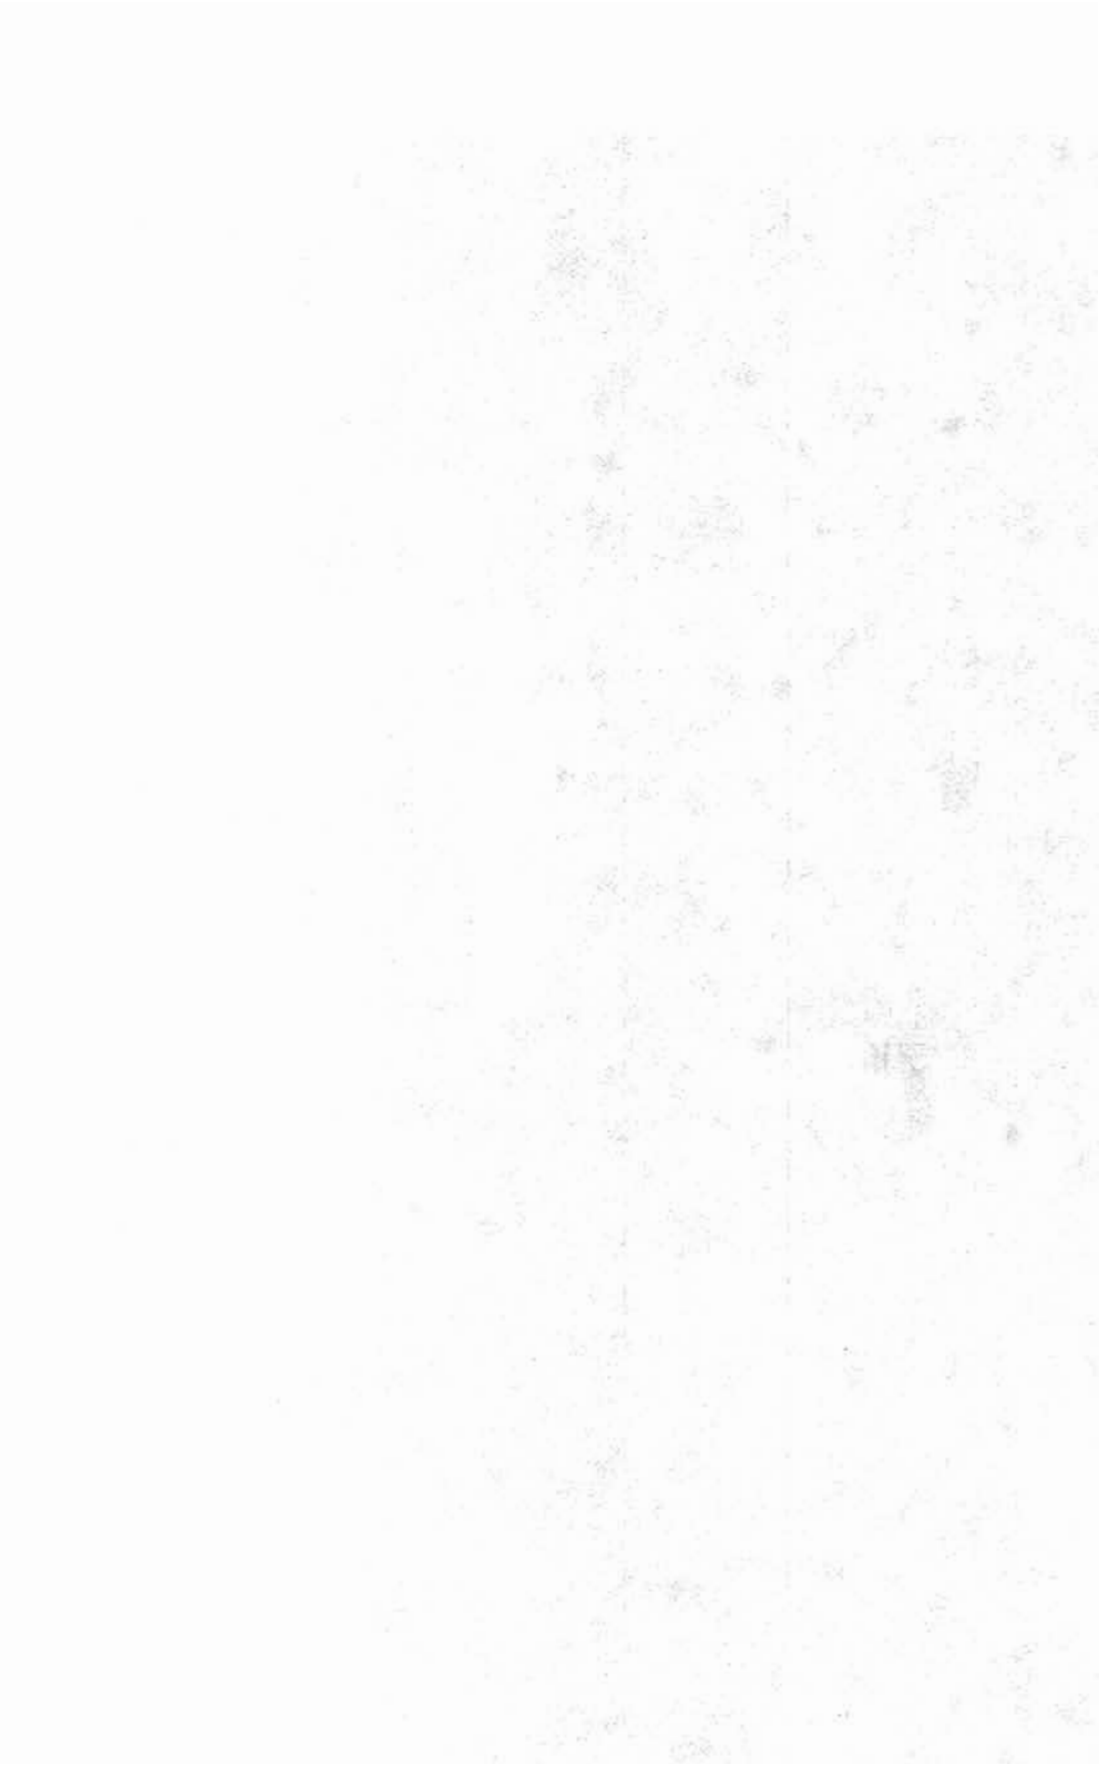

This man took up arms against the FSLN after Walpasiksa was traumatized by EPS tortures and killings in September, 1982. Wrist scars mark where he was tied for two weeks during beatings and torture in Puerto Cabezas. Walpasiksa, September, 1983. Photo by Bernard Nietschmann. [Chap. 2]

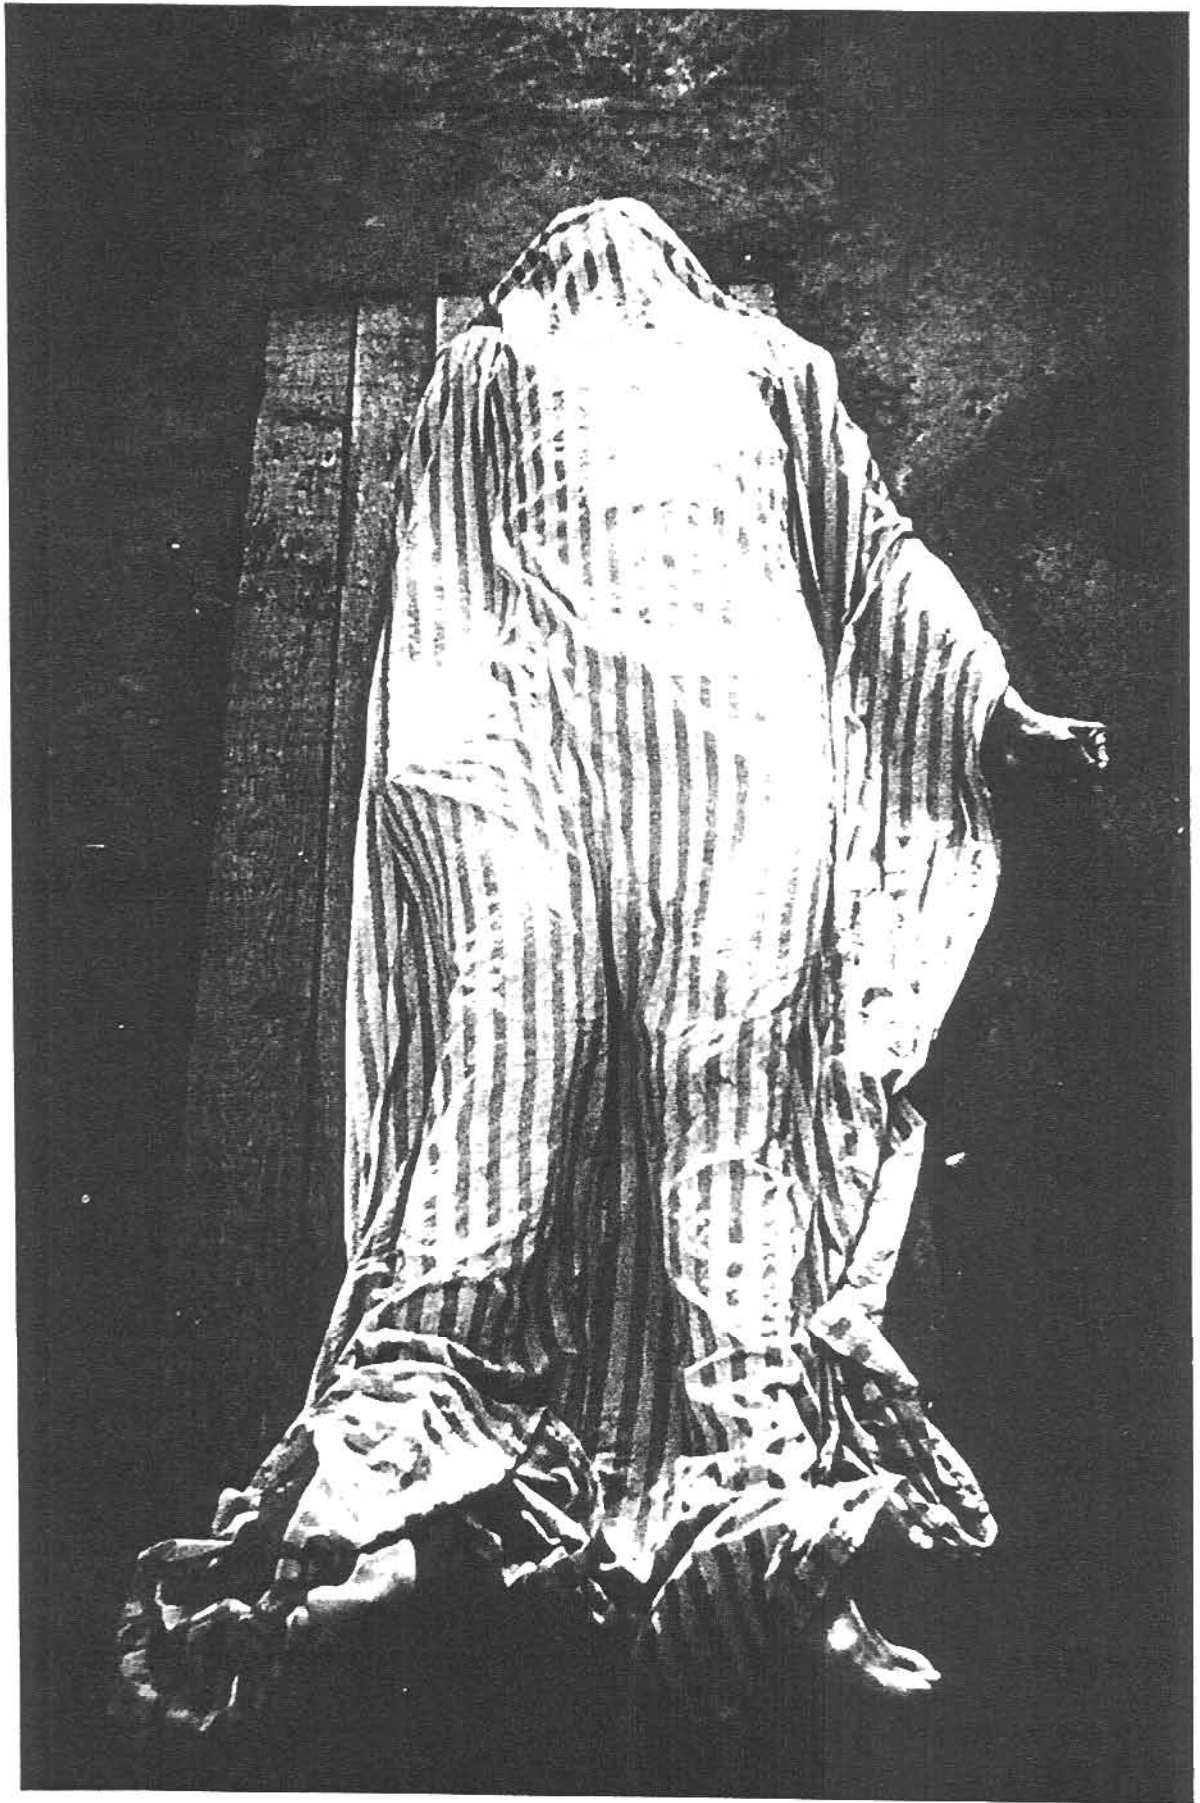

This woman wears black to mourn her sixty-five-year-old husband, tortured to death by FSLN forces in Walpasiksa, September 13, 1982. Photo by Bernard Nietschmann. Walpasiksa, September, 1983. [Chap. 2]

Local man taken home after he was killed in clash with Sandinistas. 1983. Photo by Bernard Nietschmann. [Chap 2].

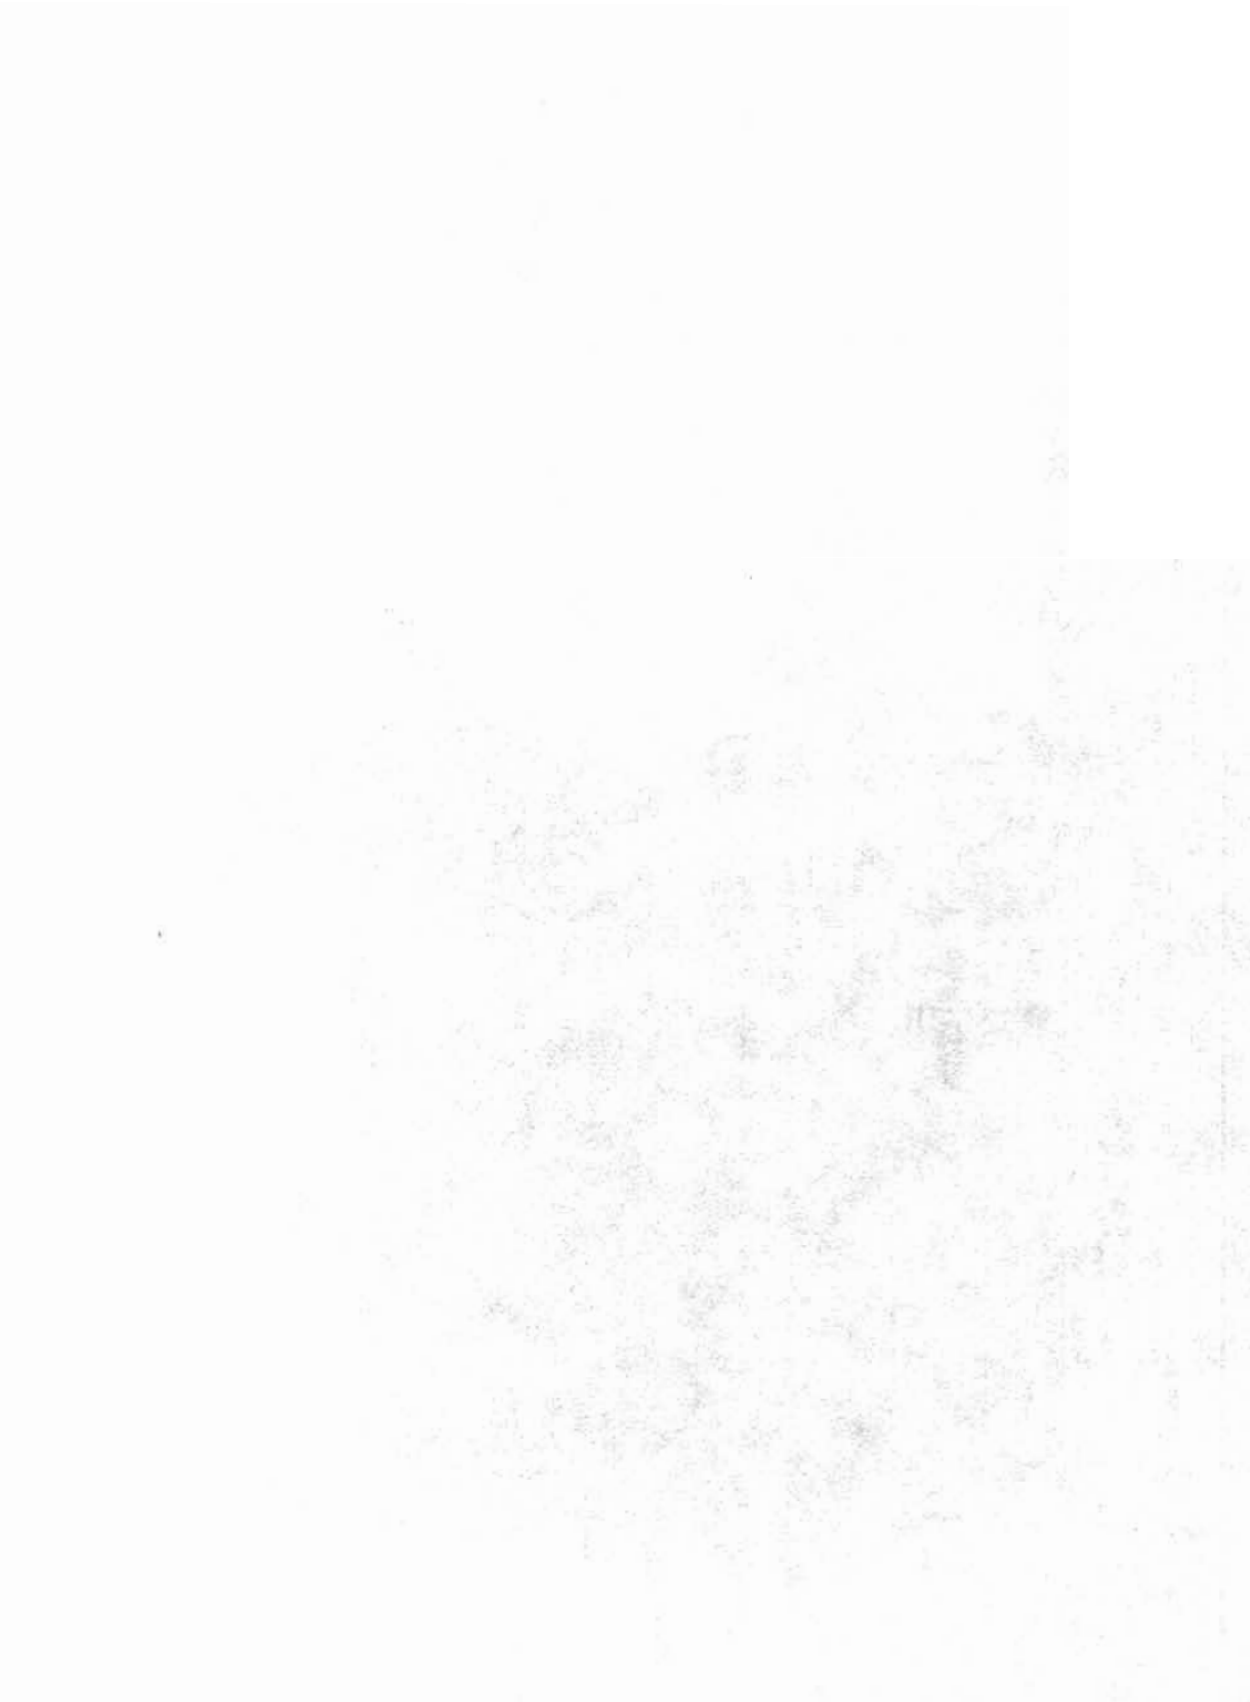

Man killed in clash with Sandinistas. 1983. Photo by Bernard
Nietschmann. [Chap 2]

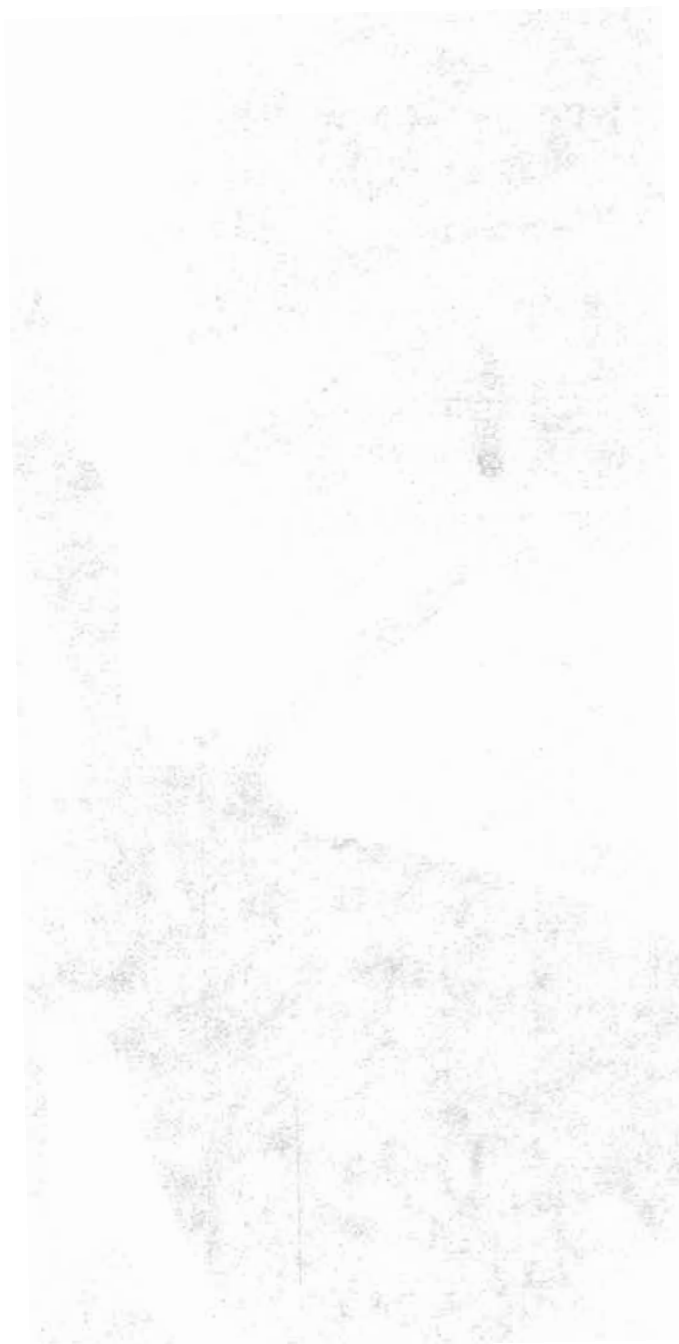

The boat we used for trip from Costa Rica. 1983. Photo by
Bernard Nietschmann. [Chap. 2]

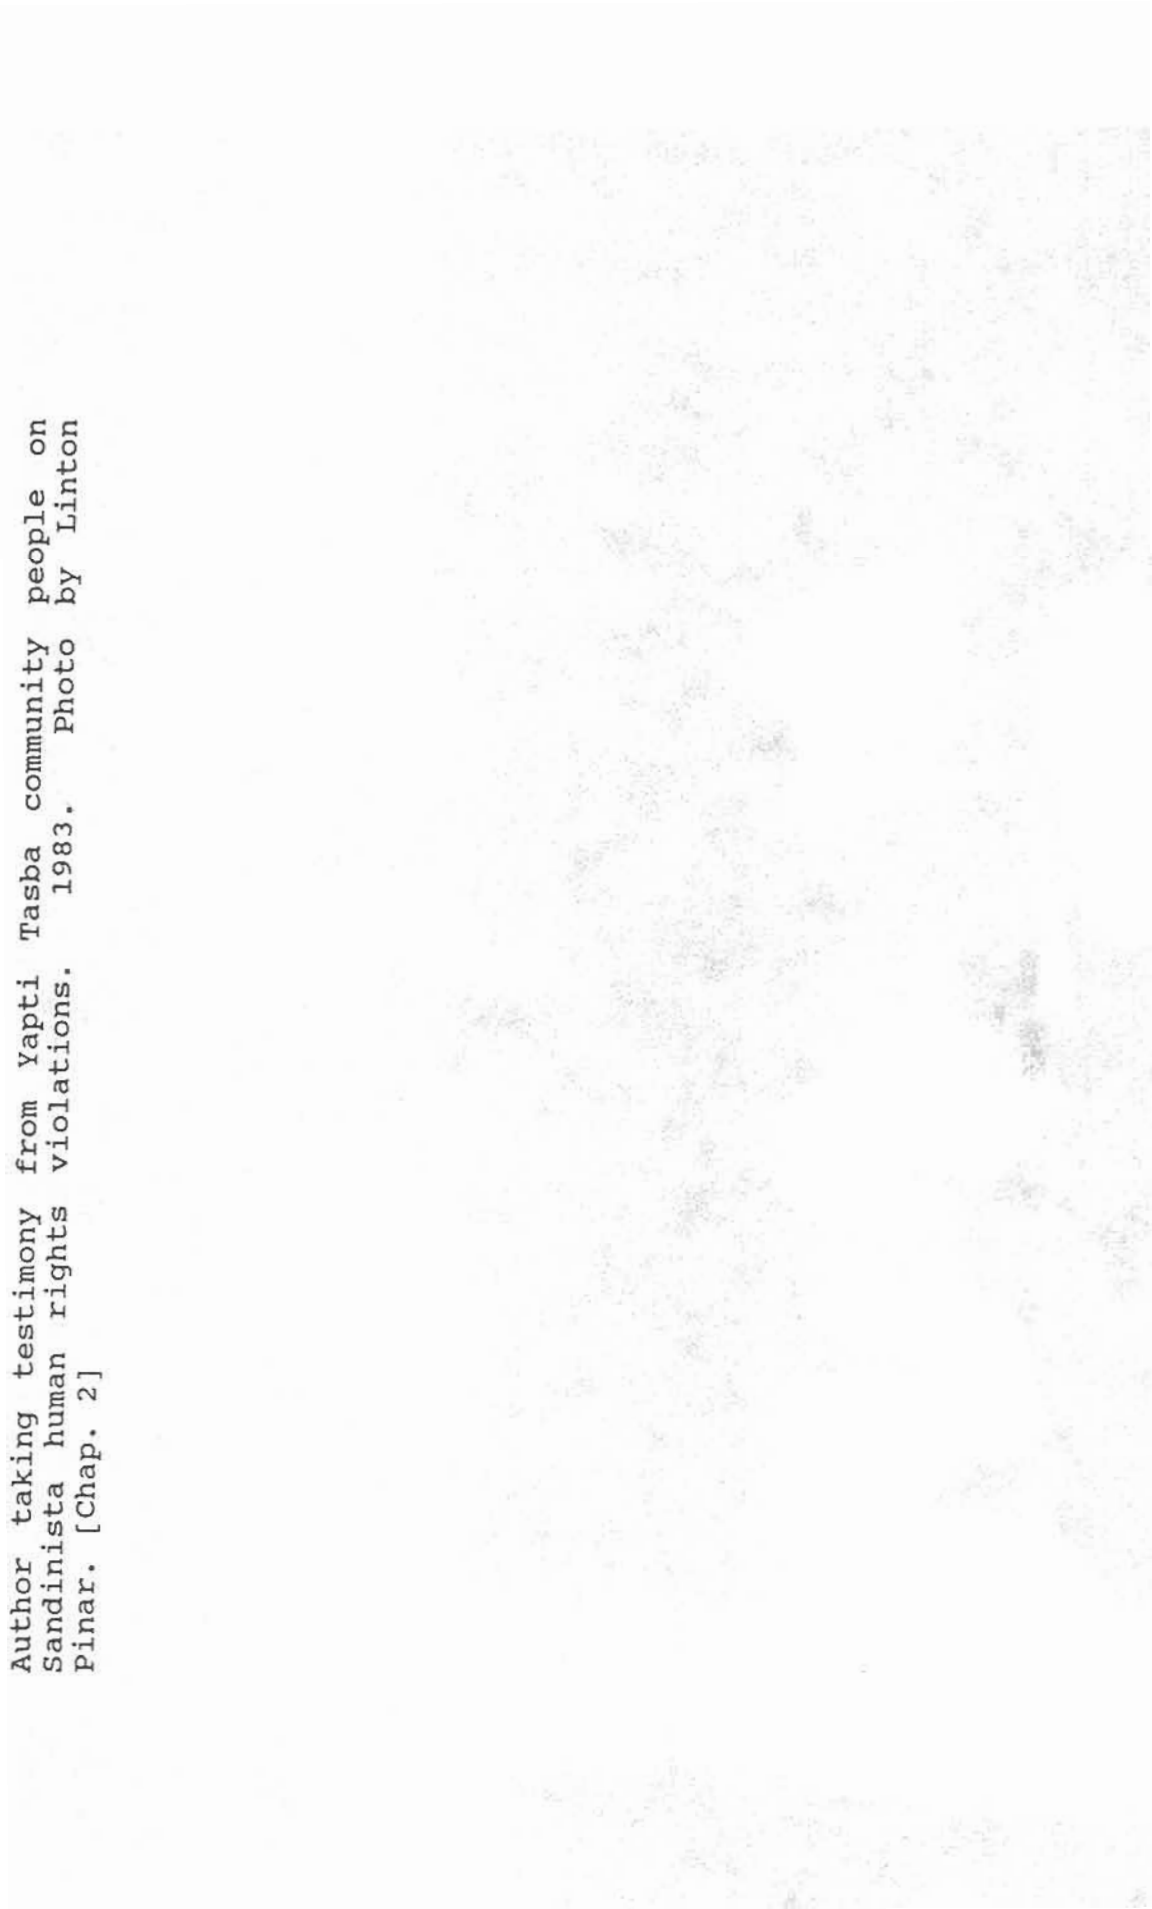

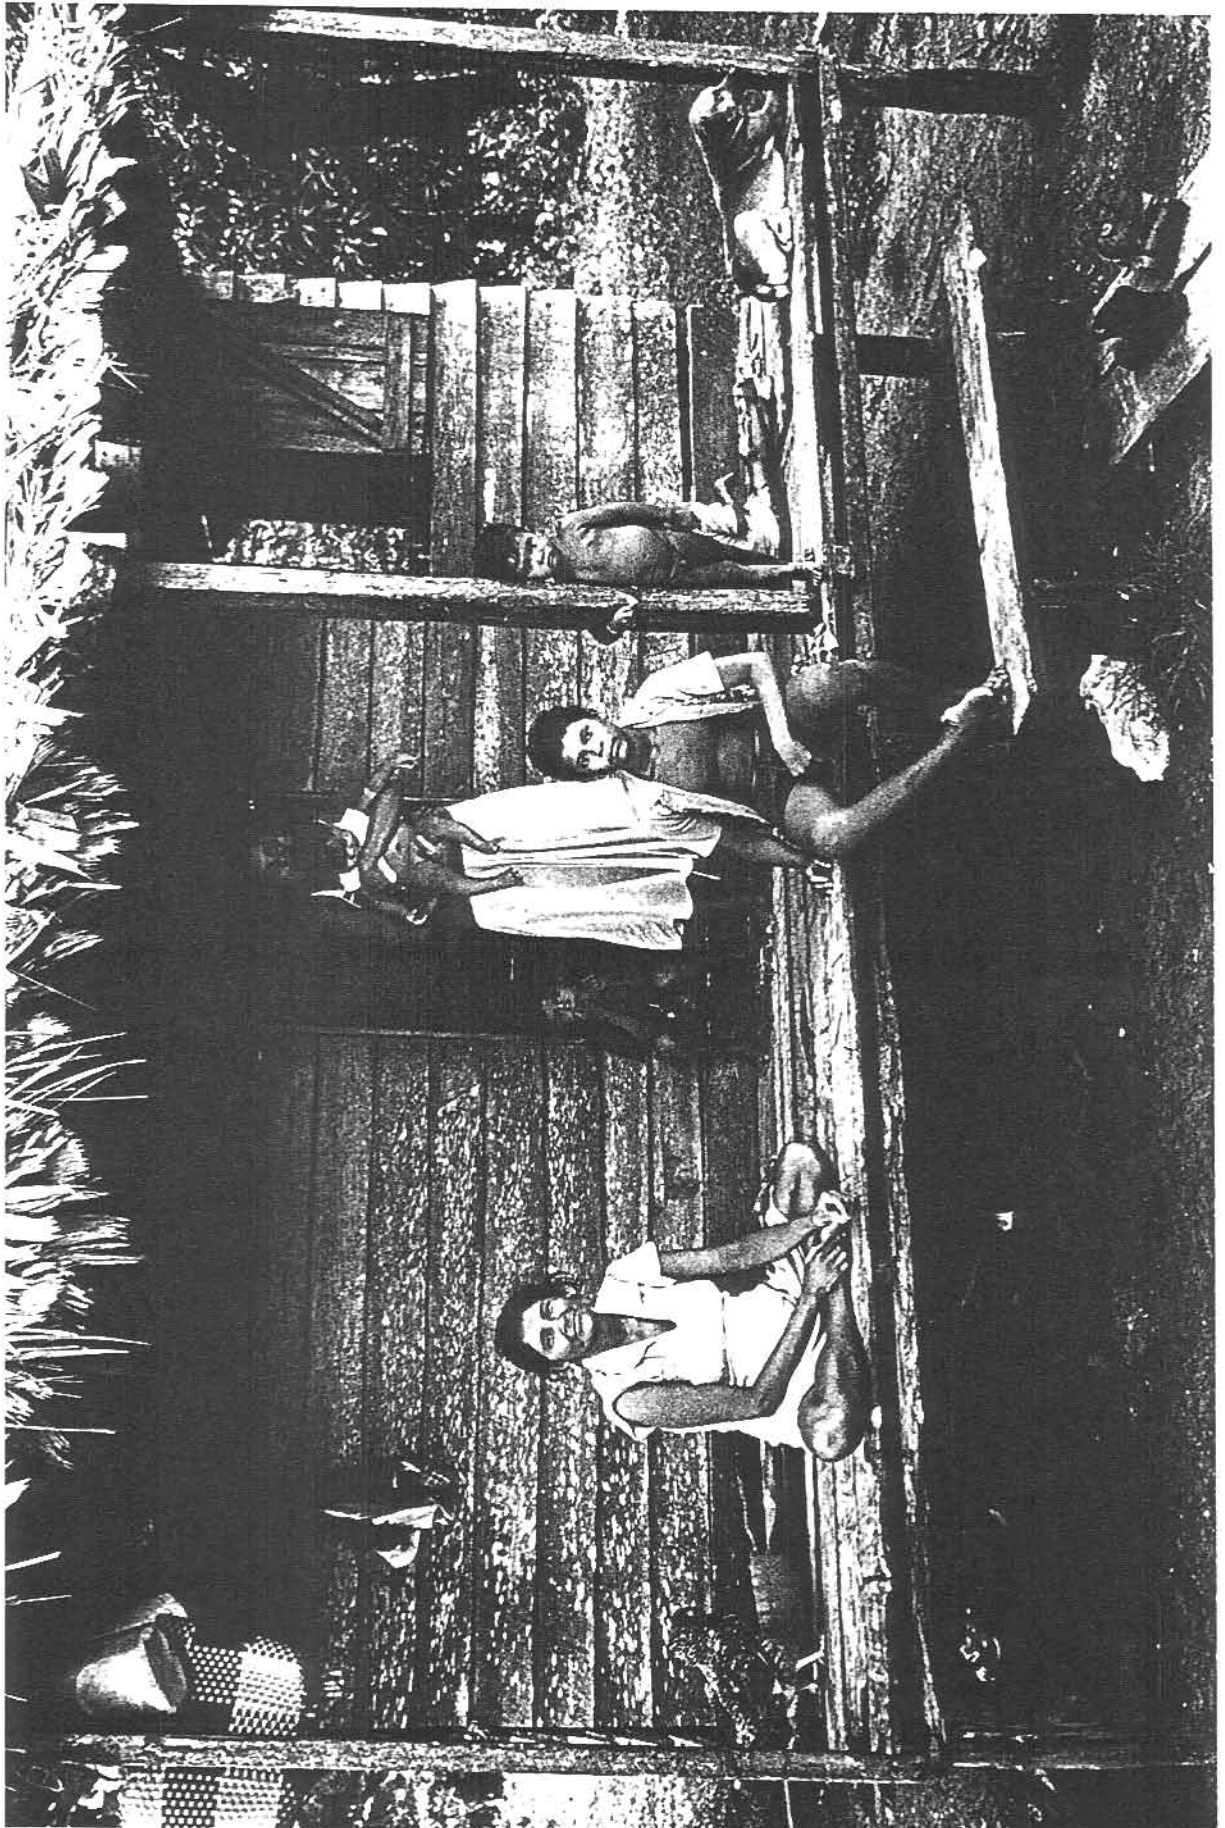

Misurasata fighter with M-30 machine gun. 1983. Photo by
Bernard Nietschmann. [Chap. 2]

Author taking testimony from Yapti Tasba community people on Sandinista human rights violations. 1983. Photo by Linton Pinar. [Chap. 2]

During the war women and children stayed in the communities and produced food for men and teenagers who fought from nearby clandestine base camps. 1983. Photo by Bernard Nietschmann
[Chap. 2]

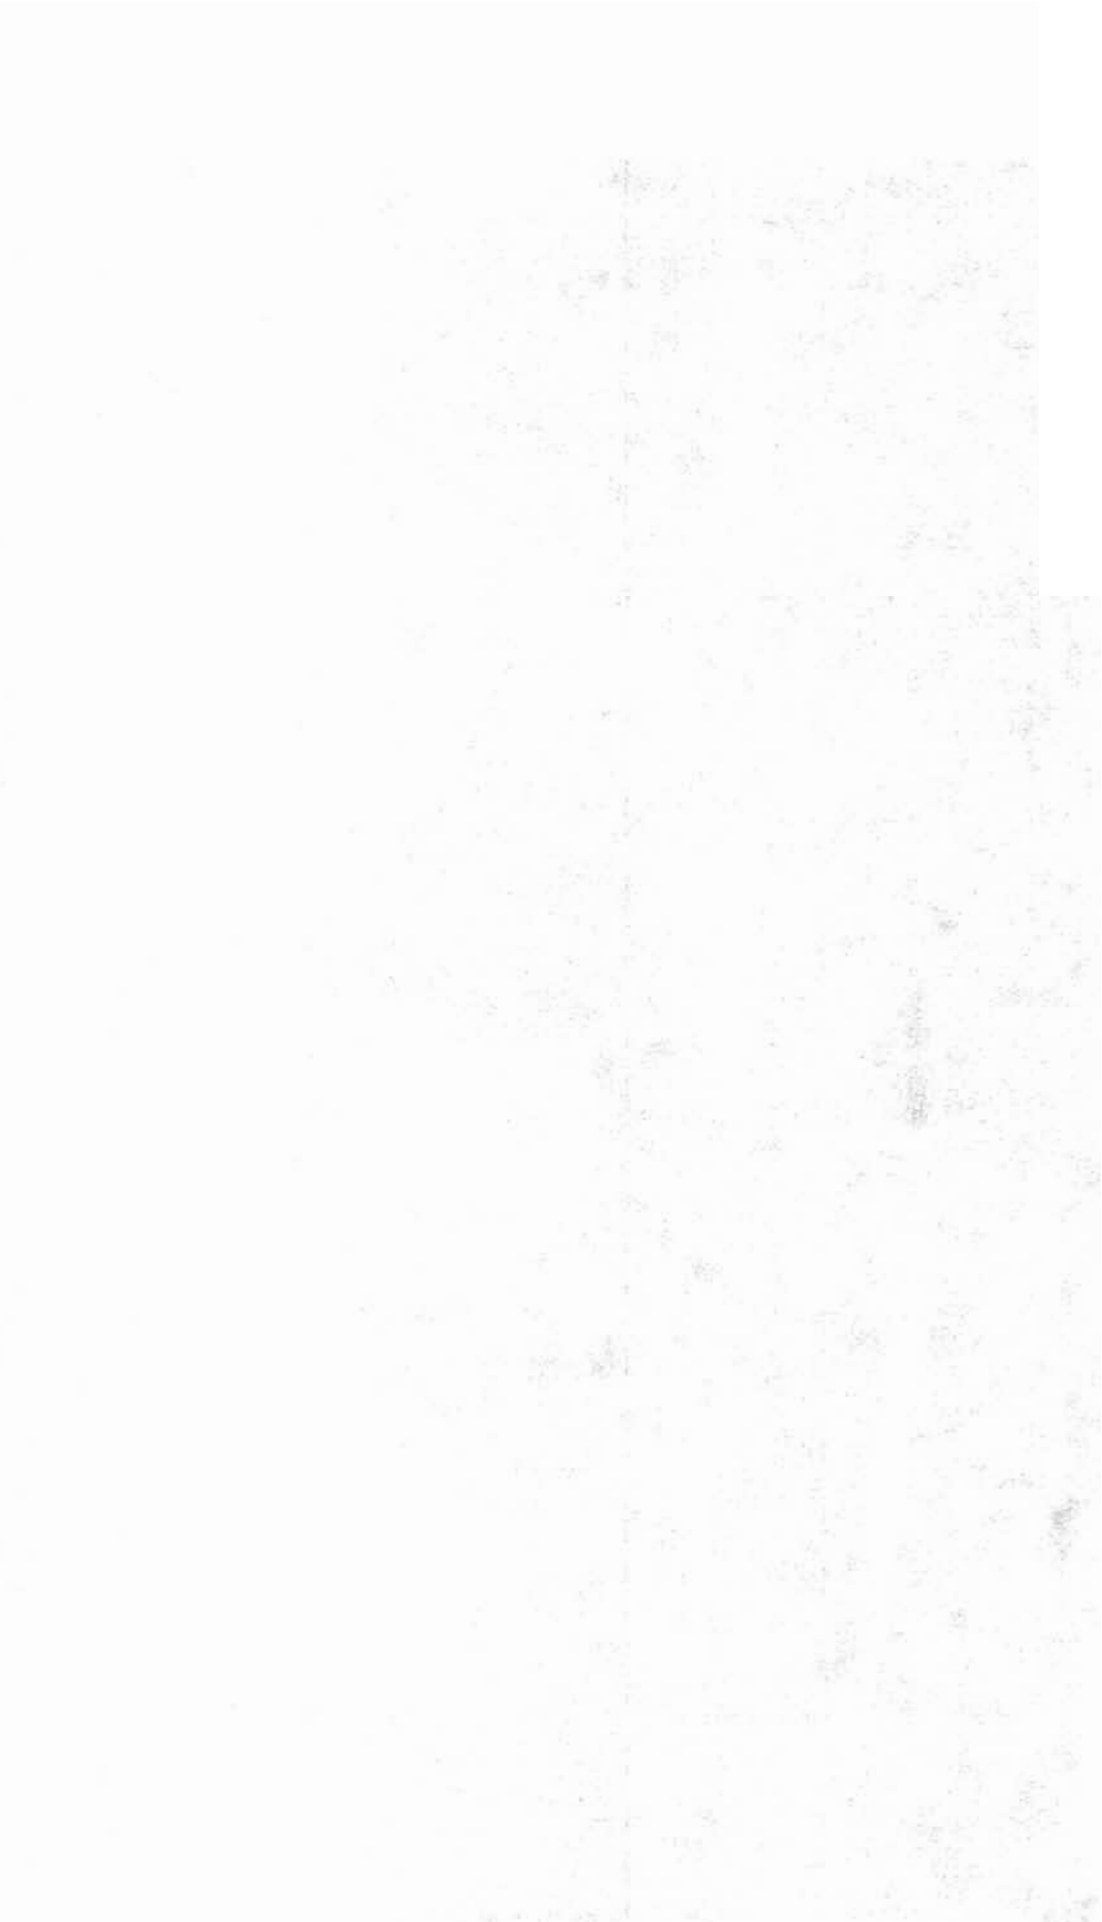

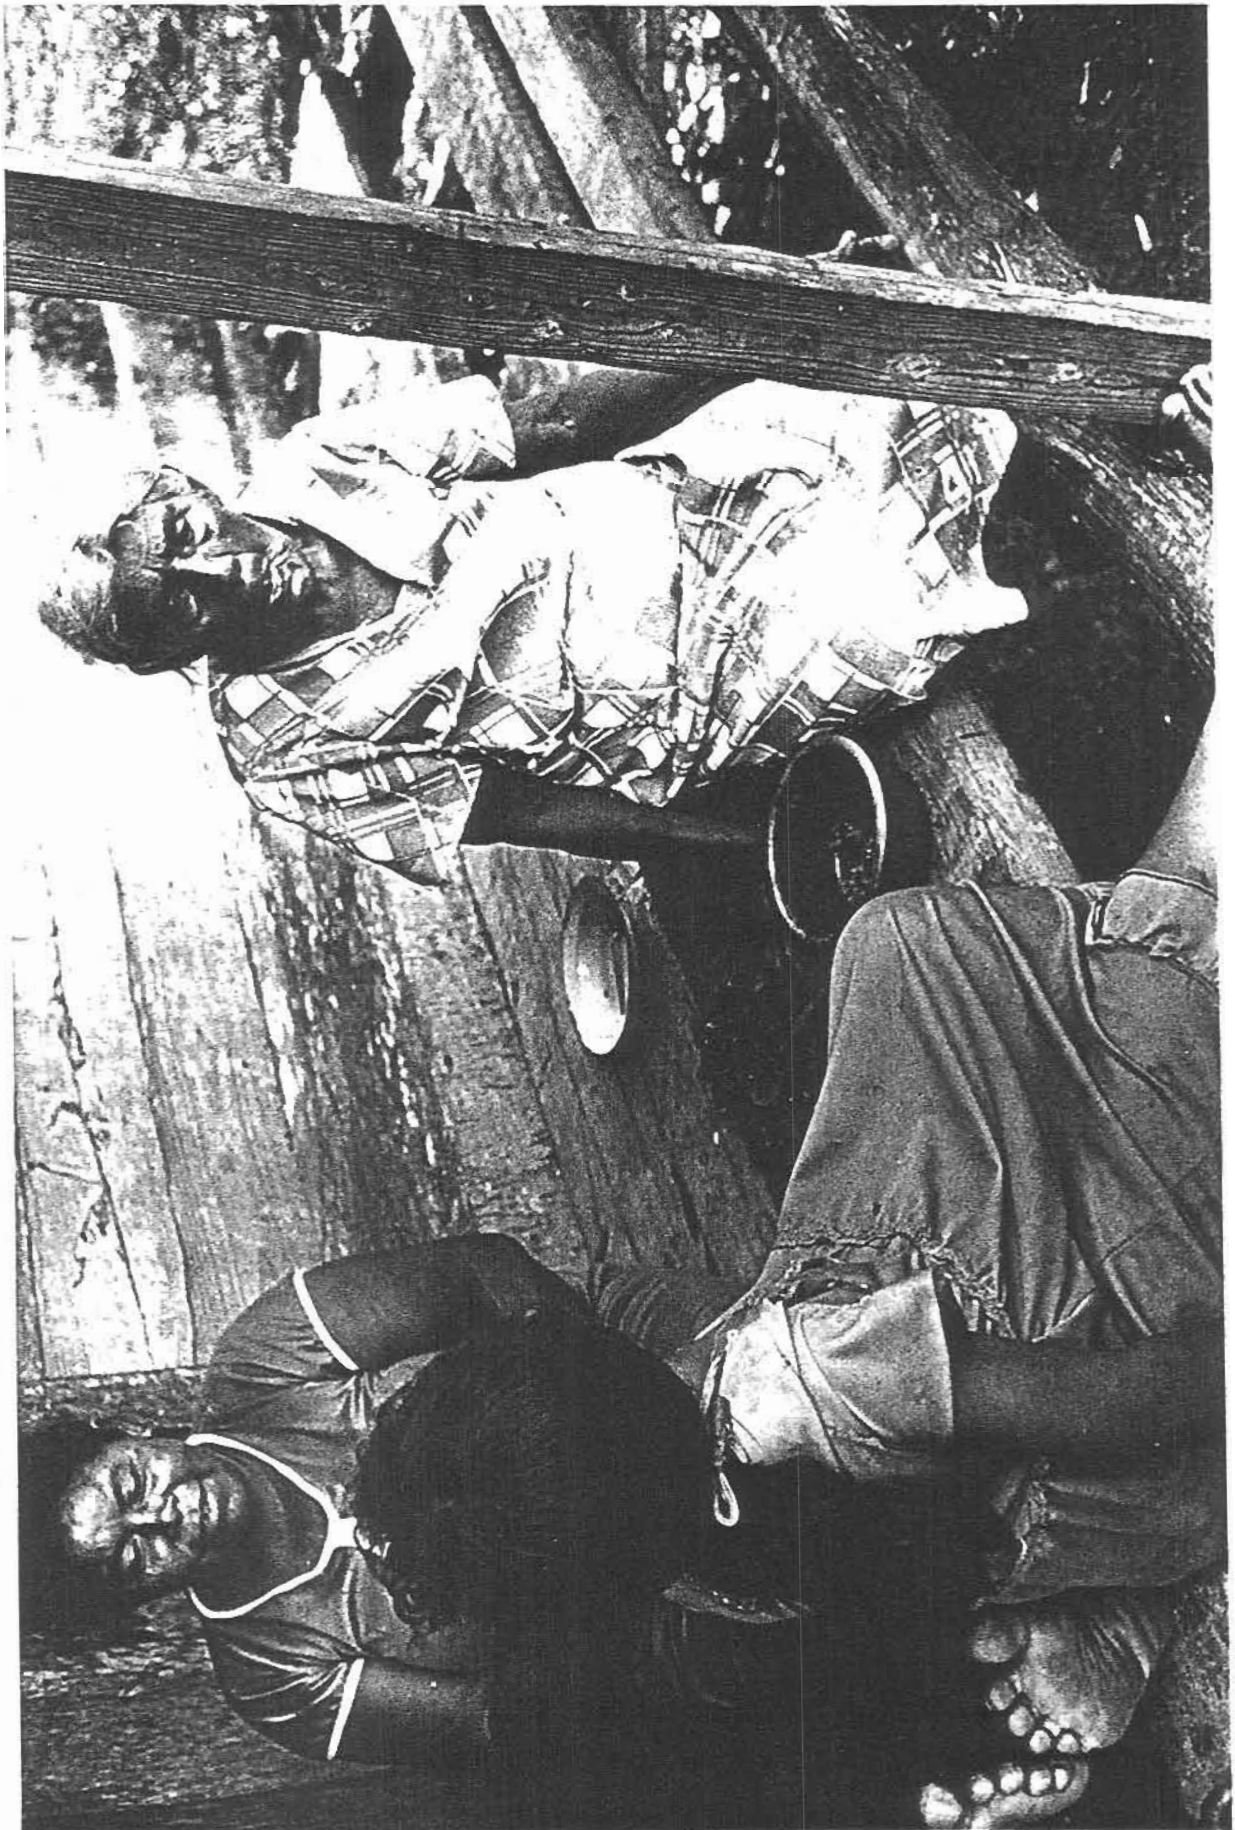

Photo by

Bernard Nietschmann

JH (Bernard Nietschmann)

Her husband killed by the Sandinistas, this woman and her two daughters know how to use and clean AK-47, M-16, and FAL automatic rifles. 1983. Photo by Bernard Nietschmann. [Chap. 2]

After sending cooked food to fighters in a nearby secret base camp, these women are preparing hone palm seeds for a soup which will be their only meal this day. 1983. Photo by Bernard Nietschmann. [Chap. 2]

